

NEW FEATURES ATTRACT MANY AT SLOPE FAIR

Crowd Present on Opening Day Gives Promise of New Records, Officials Say

RACING OPENS CLOSE

18-Year-Old Girl's Driving in Harness Races Wins Plaudits of Crowds

The Missouri Slope fair jumped into full stride on the opening day yesterday with big crowds on the grounds during the day and at night, unexpected thrills in the events and a program with new features to attract those who have been regular attendants at the fair for years. The crowd on the grounds early today gave promise of establishing new records for attendance at the fair before it closes Thursday evening.

Visitors who filled the grandstand yesterday afternoon got thrills out of the harness and running races and the riding of cowboys from the reservation. The fireworks display given last night is one of the distinctly new features of the night program. Entertainment tonight includes Indian dances and the fireworks display in front of the grandstand, boxing match in the stock pavilion, bowery dance on the fair grounds and the carnival features. The same program is offered for Wednesday evening, the fair closing Thursday afternoon.

18-Year-Old Girl Drives

The crowd cheered an 18-year-old girl, Margaret Robacher of Sprague, Wash., for her driving during the harness races yesterday. Though she failed to win she had a hard drive behind Diamond Norte in the 2:18 mixed special race. Miss Robacher's father is an old-time horseman and she learned the art of driving fast horses while traveling around at fairs with him. She is at the fair with the Robacher string and was expected to be entered today.

The onlookers also got a thrill when an Indian boy was loosed from the paddock in the center of the race track inclosure on a broncho. The horse started straight across the field for the grandstand, bucking as it went. It ran straight into a wire fence, tore it down and turned somersault, pitching the rider over its head. Neither rider nor horse was hurt.

Boy Wins Heat

Ben Bird, a 14-year-old boy, won the first heat of the 8-mile relay race in a hard ride against R. B. Olson. In the running relay each rider has four horses, changes each half mile, runs two miles each day, and is allowed two helpers—one to catch the horse and the other to hold a fresh mount—but the rider must change saddles.

Little Ford, a Little Sorrel Horse

Owned by M. E. Hibbs of Bismarck, ran away from the field in the half-mile special running race, showing a remarkable burst of speed. Because the rider had difficulty in managing the horse she started and turned 50 feet behind the others and lost 50 feet more getting a start, but easily out-distanced the three other entries in circling the half-mile track. The time was announced as 53.1-2 seconds.

Results of the racing program of the day were:

2:12 pace, purse, $300.
Queen Bird	3	4	4
Saron King	1	1	1
Humphrey	4	3	3
Time, 2:19, 2:15 1-2, 2:15 3-4.
2:18 mixed special, purse, $300.
Diamond Norte	2	2	2
Carroll Patch	4	4	4
Marion Gano	3	3	3
Kitty Denton	1	1	1
Time, 2:23 3-4, 2:24 1-2, 2:25 1-4.
Half-mile running race—first, Little Ford; second, Silver Leaf; third, Stranger. Time, 53.1-2.
Two-mile lap of relay race—Ben Bird, first, time, 4:43; R. B. Olson, second, 4:50; McDonald, third, 5:07; Fast Horse fourth, 5:05.
The timers were C. E. Kach, C. G. Conyne, H. L. Henke; Judges, Harry Center, D. R. Taylor, John W. Stephenson.

There are many fine exhibits in the women's department and the handwork of boys and girls clubs of the state is shown in a special display. Farm and garden products, dairy products, autos, trucks, tractors and farm machinery and scores of other exhibits are to be found on the grounds. The newest exhibit of all, however, is the radio stand of B. K. Skoels of Bismarck, which attracted many visitors.

LIVESTOCK EXHIBIT

The livestock exhibits at the fair are far ahead of exhibits of other years, according to Dr. E. K. Bjorn, superintendent. The exhibit included fine showings of horses, dairy and beef cattle and swine. Fench Brothers of Moorhead, Minn., have a fine display of Percheron and Belgian horses at the fair for the first time. Several of the animals have blue ribbons from the Minnesota state fair.

The New Salem and Flasher Holstein circuits are well represented. E. J. Sawtelle and G. H. Ritter are in charge of 14 animals from the Flasher circuit and Frank Gibe and Charles Klumme have 10 animals from New Salem with Francis Strong, circuit superintendent, looking after them. The Stutsman County Boys' and Girls' club has an exhibit and (Continued on Page 3)

MUST CORRECT EVIL BY SWEEPING CHANGE, HE DECLARES

By Roy Gibbons
Chicago, Aug. 29.—The American farmer is being crushed by a labor system that permits part of the people to fix their own wages, while the agriculturalist's reward is fixed by competitive conditions.

This is the opinion of James A. Patten, multi-millionaire wheat king of Chicago, given in an interview with NEA Service in which he discussed the fact that the farmer's dollar has shrunk to 71 per cent of its former value. The drop is due to the decreased price of farm commodities as compared to what he buys.

Patten for years has been a keen student of agricultural conditions, and his views are accepted as authoritative by students of the subject.

"I am asked where the farmer is headed for and what solution there is for his present situation," Patten said. "In reply I answer, the farmer is not headed anywhere—he has already arrived. His trouble is fundamental and it cannot be cured by local applications."

Wages Reduced
"Crops represent the wages of the farmer. He gets so many bushels of wheat for his year's labor. The exchange value of the wheat measured in terms of the products of other labor represents the farmer's reward. "If his products will now exchange for only 71 per cent of what they exchanged for in 1913, as shown by government reports, then his wages have been reduced by that much."

"When economic factors have free play, the reward for one form of labor when measured in the products of another form of labor, will bear an equitable relation to the amount of human effort involved in each product."

"The fundamental difficulty now is that the price of the farmer's product is fixed by free competition. In the case of wheat, by world competition."

Fixed Artificially
"On the other hand, the price of what the farmer has to buy is determined by the wages paid in its production, and these wages are not fixed in free competition, but are artificially established."

"The farmer, therefore, is the chief victim of a situation in which one class of labor is subsidized by wages maintained at an artificial level, and another class which has its wage determined by free competition."

"In the end, economic law will force a correction by juring men out of the low-paid occupations into subsidized occupations until food scarcity restores the balance."

"Human society cannot be maintained permanently upon the basis of half competition and half subsidy. No legislation, tariff, financial or other, can reach out and cure this situation. There can be no cure until we give up our attempts at partial socialism and accord free play to economic law."

REPORT GIVEN ON WATER CASE

The city commission in meeting last night received a report from City Attorney O'Hare on the water case heard in St. Paul last week in which three federal judges granted the company a temporary increase in rates of 35 per cent. The city intervened in the case opposing the increase which continues, the city attorney said, until the railroad commission has fixed a valuation on and permanent rates for the plant.

In addition City Attorney O'Hare said while in St. Paul he talked with Geo. P. Flannery, president of the water company, with reference to purchase of the plant. He said the company was willing to sell but he and Mr. Flannery disagreed upon the figure.

Stating that as he viewed the situation it was necessary for the city to either buy the present plant or build one, the city attorney suggested the city commission put the question of building a new plant up to the citizens at a special election, in the absence of $500,000 of bonds, more or less.

The commission gave a contract for paving the alley in the rear of Corwin's garage to the Hagarty Construction Co. for $2,622.16.

Collision at Bridge

A Ford sedan driven by Tom Thistlewood was damaged yesterday evening in a collision with an automobile delivery car near the Mandan approach to the new Missouri river bridge. Thistlewood was driving to Mandan and other cars were coming to Bismarck.

76,000 LIVES TOLL OF ACCIDENTS FROM CARELESSNESS, ACCORDING TO NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL

Detroit, Aug. 29.—Careless American's toll of accidental deaths during 1920 was 76,000, a life snuffed out every 11 minutes, according to report of the National Safety Council at the annual safety congress here today.

While the 1920 toll from all public and industrial accidents was a decrease of 3,000 over 1911, the balance on the credit side of the 1920 ledger was only 400 over the 1919 figures.

30 Deaths a Day.
Thirty deaths a day, a total of 11,000 was the record of automobile fatalities in 1920. Reports now available indicate an increase in 1921 in the number of deaths from auto accidents. General traffic accidents in 1921, however, are expected to show a five per cent decrease, the report stated.

BONUS ONLY SQUARE DEAL, SAYS CAPPER

Declares U. S. Chamber of Commerce Strongest Unit Against Bill

(By the Associated Press)

Washington, Aug. 29.—Announcing his support of the soldiers bonus as nothing more than a square deal for the boys who did the fighting, Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, told the senate today that "the war profiteers and the peace profiteers owe a bonus to the soldiers of the World War."

"There is no better guarantee against militarism than to require the men who profit out of war to pay for it," he said. "Those who are trained at home made enough here in the United States to enable us to pay many times over the debt we owe to the men who fought our battles. Wall Street wants to pay it with a sales tax which would be paid largely by the farmers, the laboring people and others in the form of a tax on food and clothing and other necessities."

Senator Capper said the most powerful influence against the bonus was the United States Chamber of Commerce which, he charged, had taken a referendum of its membership not upon the measure before congress but upon a measure of its own "concocting."

"Only fifty-five percent of the chamber's membership voted upon the proposition," he continued, "and a large proportion of these votes came from the large centers of industry. In spite of this only one proposition out of the four received less votes in favor than it did against, and the total votes on the four propositions submitted, 4,116 votes were cast in favor of all propositions to 2,657 against them."

Opposing the McNary land reclamation amendment the soldiers bonus bill, Senator Capper, republican, North Dakota, in charge of the meeting, told the senate today that the proposal would add hundreds of millions and perhaps billions of dollars to the cost of the bonus plan.

"I wonder if the senator believes we can attach his amendment and bring this bill before the president and have it signed?" asked Senator McNary.

"I think I can say that the president thinks more of this amendment than of other features of the bill," retorted Senator McNary. "If you want the president to sign the bill, the surest guarantee is to add this amendment."

COFFEY RULES AGAINST CAHILL IN TITLE CASE

District Judge Decides that Cahill Had Failed to Qualify for Office

FAVORS R. B. MURPHY

Future Course of Scrap for Board of Administration Appointment Undecided

Jamestown, N. D., Aug. 29.—R. B. Murphy of Grand Forks, and not J. I. Cahill of Leth, is a member of the State Board of Administration, according to an informal decision handed down here today by Judge J. A. Coffey of the Fourth District court. The decision is in the suit of the state to determine the right of Murphy or Cahill to the office. The case was heard before Judge Coffey ten days ago in Bismarck and both sides submitted briefs. The state was represented by Attorney General Johnson and the defense by C. L. Crum of Mandan and Wm. Langer of Bismarck.

Judge Coffey, in his decision declared that Cahill did not qualify for the office. "I am satisfied that no oath was administered," says the decision, "that the defendant did not qualify at the time specified."

In the course of his opinion, Judge Coffey amplified his opinion that Cahill was not at any time during the recent appointment qualified to hold the office for which he drew salary until the 27th day of February when Governor R. A. Nestos filed a letter with the Secretary of State announcing the withdrawal of the appointment. The final statement of the judge is that "he is satisfied that the oath of office was not filed with the Secretary of State."

MAY QUESTION ACT

But one official act of J. I. Cahill is liable to be questioned, according to state officials when told of the decision of Judge Coffey, stating R. B. Murphy. Most of the decisions of the board have been by one-sided votes. The one act is one election of Warden L. L. Stair for a period of two years beginning in April last. This election was by the vote of George A. Totten, Robert Muir and Mr. Cahill long after the latter had been notified by Governor Nestos that his appointment had been withdrawn.

It is expected that Mr. Murphy will assume the seat of Mr. Cahill on the board of administration, although there was issued an injunction by Judge Berry of Mandan against interference with Cahill. The injunctive suit was not for the purpose of deciding title to the office, however, the suit in district court here being for that purpose. Attorney Langer said it was for Cahill to decide whether he would resist efforts of Murphy to take the office pending decision by the supreme court.

Judge Coffey called attention in his decision to the fact that Mr. Cahill had filed a proper oath of office when he was appointed in 1921 to fill out an unexpired term of office and compared this with the fact that seven months afterwards on August 1st he had testified on the witness stand that he was uninformed as to the method of procedure of qualifying for the same office.

IOWA FARMERS LOSE HEAVILY BY RAILROAD TIEUP

(By the Associated Press)
Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 29.—Farmers of Iowa and other middle western states are losing heavily from failure of the railroads to handle their crops and from combinations which prevent their getting a fair price for them when they do succeed in marketing what they produce, declared Governor J. A. O. Prews of Iowa here this morning in an address delivered as part of the Iowa farm bureau federation program at the state fair.

"You ought to go back to your school houses, as you did years ago and study the way other fellows are grouped against you, see where you can develop a system of your own and get what you earn" he urged upon his audience.

STRIKERS HELD ON CHARGE OF MURDER

Two Confess to Having Wrecked 'Million Dollar Express' on M. C.

OTHER PLOT REVEALED

Raid Made on Radical Meeting and Several Held for Examination

Chicago, Aug. 29.—Five men were charged with murder today, accused of wrecking the "Million Dollar Express" of the Michigan Central near Gary, Indiana, August 20, when two of the train crew were killed.

Five others were held in connection with the wreck investigation and at least two more who are known were sought, according to the police.

Confessions not only solved the wreck of the express but bared a plot to send the Twentieth Century Limited into the ditch near Elkhart, Ind., the police said.

The five who face murder charges are: Joseph Papourvitch, Charles Ussila, John Petrowski, Albino Alessio and James Prohaska. All were said to be striking shopmen.

Ussila Petrowski and Papourvitch were said to have confessed the wreck plot. The men were employed in the New York Central shops. They name Allele in their confessions, and he admitted knowledge of the plot, according to the police, but maintained that Ussila, Petrowski and Papourvitch were responsible.

Ussila and his companions, the alleged confessions said, talked with a speaker after a radical meeting, schemed the wreck of the express train, went to Gary that night and upon their return were "congratulated."

Five men arrested in a raid on a radical meeting last week, and whom the police said were questioned in connection with the Michigan Central wreck: Phil Arenberg, Nathan Greenberg, Andrew Ostergard and Jake Schulman of Chicago and John Anan, said to be well known for radical activities on the Pacific Coast.

FINE YIELDS ARE REPORTED

200-Acre Field Goes 24 Bushels to Acre

C. F. Kellogg, bank receiver for the Bismarck district, who has just returned from a trip in nearly towns reported that the 200 acre wheat farm owned by John Kohovek, who lives 17 miles south of New Salem averaged over 24 bushels of wheat to the acre when threshed. Another field in the same vicinity averaged 31 bushels to the acre. This field, however, was not so very large.

Round Almost and Sims a strip that had received very little rain, wheat averaged but 10 or 12 bushels to the acre. Mr. Kellogg stated that one field of oats, of which he knew yielded 70 bushels to the acre.

HOPE IS REVIVED FOR RESCUE OF 47 GOLD MINERS TRAPPED HALF A MILE UNDERGROUND BY BAD FIRE

Jackson, Cal., Aug. 29.—Hope for the rescue of the men now said to be trapped since midnight Sunday by fire in the Argonaut gold mine, was revived today when it was announced that crews digging away tunnel obstructions between the Kennedy and Argonaut mine shafts were making better progress than expected. H. M. Wolfen, superintendent of the bureau of safety of the state industrial accident commission, made the announcement.

The tunnel is 600 feet long and leads from the 3600-foot level at the Kennedy shaft to a point considerably below the fire area in the Argonaut shaft. It is filled with soft dirt from a cave-in, and there are 50 feet of solid dirt bank at the Argonaut end. It should be cleared in between two and three days, according to experts at the mine.

Voluminous of mauling gas issuing from the burning depths of the Argonaut mine at Jackson, through the Maldon air shaft at first led to the belief that the men had perished.

Notwithstanding the seemingly hopelessness of the task, however, the mine rescue crews are sticking desperately to their task and every possible effort is being bent toward reaching the entombed men. This morning the fire was reported raging in the depths.

HARDING ASKS AUTHORITY TO SEIZE ROADS

President Will Not Exercise Power if Avoidable, However

Views Are Clarified

(By the Associated Press)
Washington, Aug. 29.—President Harding still believes that congress should grant him immediate authority to take over the railroads and mining properties, it was said today at the White House, but he has assured congressional spokesmen that only the grimes public necessity would move him to exercise such powers if granted.

If congress indicates unwillingness to enact the legislation necessary, the president does not intend to push his opinion or to make a formal public demand for the powers, it was said, officials adding that he does not believe that there is any present necessity for action under such a grant.

NO SEIZURE OF MINES

Philadelphia, Aug. 29.—A definite statement that there would be no government intervention or seizure of mines, remained the outstanding feature of the anthracite situation here early today. The statement came from an authoritative but confidential source last night.

Within a short time, according to the source of information, and probably within a week, representatives of the miners and hard coal operators will sign a new pact and 155,000 workers soon thereafter will return to their jobs.

Conference held by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers and by Samuel D. Warriner, chairman of the operators' policies committee and other operators have been continuing. United States Senator Pepper, Secretary of Labor Davis, Mayor John Durkan of Scranton and others have conferred with the labor leader in the last few days. He consistently declined to comment on the situation.

They cut the wires, escaped in an automobile and left no clues.

AGGIES ELATED OVER SIGNING JOE CUTTING

(By the Associated Press)
Fargo, N. D., Aug. 29.—The North Dakota Agricultural college, when it signed articles yesterday with Joe Cutting, coach of the Williston High School football team for the next several years, to assist in the coaching of the Bison gridiron squad, threw down a challenge to the University of North Dakota that the up river school is not likely to ignore.

Cutting's success as a football coach is a byword to North Dakota gridiron fans and his affiliation with the Bisons is a big move forward for the football prospects of the local school.

Federal Agents Make Arrests for Alleged Violation of Injunctions

(By the Associated Press)
Chicago, Aug. 29.—The railroad labor board today denied the motion of W. Jett Lauck, labor statistician, that the board immediately define the principle of "a living wage" in the case of the maintenance of way employees who are seeking increased minimum rates of pay. At the request of E. F. Grable, president of the maintenance organization, the hearing then was adjourned until tomorrow morning.

Mr. Grable announced he was telegraphing President Harding and Senator Cummins, one of the authors of the transportation act at Washington today asking them to present to congress an amendment to the act which would make it mandatory the labor board to "nunciate" the principle of the living wage.

PROTEST SENT U.S. ENGINEERS OVER BAD ROAD

Paved Highway Needed to Withstand Traffic, Captain Baker Says

Road conditions on the west side of the river, between the bridge and Mandan, cannot be permanently corrected until a paved road is built. Captain I. P. Baker of Bismarck declared in a telegram sent today to the United States Bureau of Public Roads in Washington. Calling attention of the government road engineers to the fatal accident of Sunday, Capt. Baker declared the fog of dust hovering about the road is a constant menace to autoists, as well as the rough condition of the road.

No road except a paved one can withstand the tremendous traffic on this road, Capt. Baker added. Sharp demands must be made from people in this section upon the federal authorities to hasten the completion of the road project on the west side of the river, Capt. Baker said.

Another accident was reported last night when an automobile of Thomas Thistlewood was badly damaged in a collision near the end of the bridge, on the Mandan road. Narrow escapes are becoming common for tourists.

The traffic during the period of the Mandan fair is so heavy that drivers are cautioned to be more than usually careful.

Separate inquiries were in progress into an attempt to ditch the California-Florida Flyer on the Frisco system at Capleville, Tenn., and the dynamiting of Chicago and Alton railroad bridges at Drake and Whitehall, Illinois.

VALUATION OF STATE'S FARMS IS COMPLETED

State Board of Equalization Makes Slight Decrease in General Levels

The total valuation of farm lands as left by the state board of equalization for the year 1922 is $64,766,878 below the total valuation of farm lands as left by the state board of equalization in the year 1921. The reduction amounts to 5.79 per cent as compared with last year's figures. Abstracts of assessment have not yet been received from three counties covering their 1922 assessment. Consequently, a tentative valuation has been used in the case of these three counties. The total valuation of farm lands as returned by the county boards of fifty counties amounted to $866,827,117. The valuation of these counties as left by the state board of equalization amounts to $859,310,701 a reduction of a little less than 1 per cent on the county board figures.

The valuation of town and city lots and leased sites, as returned by fifty counties, amounts to $39,466,804. The valuation of town and city lots and leased sites as fixed by the state board of equalization in the county board figures is $40,144,615. No changes were made by the state board of town and city lots and leased sites in 39 counties; increases were ordered in 10 counties; and a decrease in one county.

Increase Local Property
Increases on business structures were ordered in 15 counties; a decrease in one county; and no changes were made in 34 counties. No changes were ordered in the case of leased residences and homes. The principal changes on city real estate were in Burleigh, Morton and Stutsman counties.

Town and city lots in Stutsman were increased 20 per cent; business structures, 10 per cent. Business structures in Burleigh were increased 15 per cent and in Morton county, 10 per cent. The other changes ordered by the board in connection with the equalization of city real estate applied to the smaller counties.

Bismarck Changes
Bismarck business property was decreased 10 per cent by the county board from the figures of the city board, and then increased 15 per cent by the state board, making a net increase over the city board's figures of five per cent.

Other changes in assessed valuations follow:
Changes on lots and leased sites—Increased: Bottineau 10 per cent, Divide ten, Griggs ten, McLean twenty-five, Mercer fifteen, Morton ten, Sheridan fifteen, Slope twenty-five, Stutsman twenty, Wells ten. Decreased: Eddy ten percent.
Changes on business structures—Increased: Bottineau ten per cent, Burke ten, Burleigh fifteen, Dickey ten, Divide ten, Hettinger ten, Logan ten, McHenry ten, Morton ten, Pierce ten, Richland ten, Sheridan ten, Stutsman ten, Towner ten, Wells ten. Decrease: Golden Valley ten.

The following table shows the valuation of acre property as left by the state board for the years 1921 and 1922—

KAULFUSS WILL BE SECRETARY OF ROAD BODY

Whose Resignation from Position Is Announced

J. E. Kaulfuss, engineer of the North Dakota State Railway Commission announced yesterday that he had accepted the position of secretary of the North Dakota Good Roads association. He succeeds Will B. Holbein, resigned secretary of the organization since its organization and will take over the duties of the organization at once.

The resignation of Mr. Holbein, tendered to the association last June and the election of Mr. Kaulfuss to take his place came at a meeting of the executive committee of the Roads association here recently.

Before coming to North Dakota, Mr. Kaulfuss had experience as an engineer in the building of roads in Wisconsin and was for a number of years on the faculty of the University of Maine.

Mr. Holbein, whose resignation came as a surprise to his many friends, first came to the notice of the people of North Dakota as the editor of a paper at Lansford. He had charge of the state display at the exposition at San Francisco and occupied other positions in a similar capacity for the state. Some years ago he took the position of secretary of the Minot Commercial club, the place he resigned at the demand of the Good Roads association that he come to that organization as secretary.

Mr. Holbein has not announced his future plans but it is understood by his associates of the good roads organization that he will seek a position which entails less constant traveling than his past work has necessitated. He is now on vacation in Montana.

INVESTIGATES REPORT GUARD MEN LOSE JOBS

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 29.—Captain L. J. Moerk, commanding officer of the Duluth Tank Corps, announced today he was conducting an investigation concerning reports that several members of Duluth units of the Minnesota National Guard had found their regular lines of employment taken when they returned to work today after serving with their organization in the forest fire zone.

Captain Moerk said, "several" guardsmen were reported to have lost their jobs because of their military duty. The captain is investigating the matter with a view of making known to the employers the fact that the guardsmen are not deserters.

Rhino at St. Paul. Captain Moerk said the reported action of the men's employers was in direct violation of chapter 508, section 85 of the state law of 1921 which provides that men enlisted to return to their regular work at the termination of such service.

10,000 Mile Trip Through 26 States in Willys-Knight Car

Traversing some of "the worst roads imaginable," to use the language of the owner, A. F. VanOrnum of Pasadena, Cal., accompanied by his friend J. W. Cooper, have just completed a 10,000 mile trip in a Willys-Knight roadster in just seven weeks.

Fifteen days of this time was spent in stop-overs and side trips, making thirty-four days of actual travel to complete the 10,000 miles, 26 states being visited during the jaunt, also Ontario, Canada.

They started out through Texas and Tennessee mountains to Washington, D. C., and New York and thence back to the coast via the shores of the Great Lakes, Yellowstone Park and the Pacific Northwest.

On the trip east 257 miles a day was the average distance covered, while 290 was the average on the return journey. The average gasoline mileage was 22.1-2 miles to the gallon and 490 miles to the gallon of oil.

"We did not have a moment engine trouble," wrote Mr. VanOrnum, "or a flat tire from any cause. We averaged 22.1-2 miles to the gallon of gasoline and 490 miles on a gallon of oil." Another marvelous record was the small amount of water used. Between Cinway, Ark., and Minneapolis, Minn. (via New York), they used exactly three and one-half pints of water.

"At Abilene, Texas, we were advised to ship our car to Memphis, Tenn. About two hours later we were told the car had not been shipped. The mud we encountered can appreciate or understand what it is like. Mud clung to our tires in such quantities as to resemble a half barrel and was easily visible from the driver's seat. At times the mud was five or six inches above the running board."

Mr. VanOrnum started his letter with the comment, "A tribute to a marvelous automobile," is a fitting title to this unsolicited testimonial. In closing he commented on the fact that he and Mr. Cooper have owned a dozen different makes of cars and have driven over 300,000 miles and "believe they know a good car, hence this letter."

Wildwood closed Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday this week account orchestra playing at Fair Grounds, Mandan.

NESTOS DEPLORES JOKES AIMED AT DRY MEASURE AS CONTRARY TO JUST RESPECT FOR LAWS

Red Willow Lake, N. D., Aug. 28.—Good Citizenship is not simply keeping out of jail, Governor R. A. Nestos told an audience here Sunday afternoon while discussing "Christian Citizenship." There must be a positive side and in outlining where his positive force might be applied, the governor mentioned work, play, and the two of the characteristics of good citizenship he also found in reverence and loyalty.

He also deplored jokes aimed at the enforcement of the Volstead act stating that such frivolity broke down respect for all law.

The governor's address was to a cosmopolitan crowd made up of the summer residents and the visitors to this far inland body of water. Miles from a railroad, with residents of the state only before him, the governor talked of the ideals of citizenship as it has been built through the centuries of Christianity.

"No man can expect to succeed in life and permanently to remain happy," said the Governor, in discussing the ideals of work, "who is not definitely engaged in some useful service to society, some labor in which he gains his livelihood and renders his contribution to the welfare of the community. We are altogether too prone to regard our work as a contest to see how little service or pay we need to render for what the other party expects. Too often the laborer, even when receiving good wages will loaf on the job. He does the work carelessly, fails to protect their employers' interests and frequently also will the employer seek every possible way to get out of his work. More than he is entitled to for the pay given. They look upon it as a contest of wits, frequently like a dog-fight, for advantage to each. With this view of life they consider that in any business transaction, whether one of employment or purchase and sale, only the one who is strongest or smartest and so gets the best of the bargain can be the gainer thereby."

Loyal to State
"A Christian citizenship is also loyal to the state and country, and we want to discuss today what such loyalty involves. It involves a love of country that prompts obedience to law, support and defense of its existence, rights and institutions, and to the promotion of its welfare."

"This loyalty to the state, and country involves respect for and obedience to its constitution, which is the fundamental law, and to the statutory laws of the state and the country. Not only that, but it means loyalty to the institutions of the country, and the devotion that a Christian citizenship involves being a positive force for good in the community. It is not sufficient merely that you shall refrain from breaking the law, and that you shall be able to stay out of jail. The state and the country must be able to count upon you if you are a Christian citizen to be a positive force for all that is good in the civic life. As a people, we are too prone to pass the buck. We are inclined to think that if we can get the city council or state legislature, or the national congress to pass legislation stating that certain things are right and should be done, and that certain things are wrong and should be avoided, that that relieves of all personal responsibility. The great trouble is that altogether too frequently today, we discharge the personal responsibility, the demands that are made upon personal character and Christian ideals, and hide behind laws and officials and think that all is well. The result of this a tremendous increase in law violation, and in breaking down the respect for and obedience to the law of the land, and the orders of our constituted authorities. Take the two shining examples today—that of the use of the automobile, and the almost constant violation of the city ordinances and state laws by those who drive these automobiles. In the second place, the

Christian Ideal
"But when we follow the Christian ideals; when we seek to apply the Golden Rule to all of life's activities; when we learn that to really live we must live like; then we realize also that no business transaction is really right unless both parties are better off for having transacted the business. This involves a fair and square treatment of labor for the employers, and also honest and faithful service to the employers by those who are working as a laborer. I remember well an old German who was working as a carpenter and repair-man at one of the educational institutions I attended, and one day the boys saw him at work trying to cut some knots spots out of a board to fit it onto the floor. The boys suggested to him that by using a little putty he could conceal spot and paint it, and no one would know the difference. He straightened up and said, 'I do everything as in the sight of God.' When we, as workmen, have such loyalty in the service and pride in the character of the work we do, and when the employer remembers the Golden Rule in his payment and treatment attitude of so many of our people— even those who are considered good citizens and responsible members of society—to the enforcement of our prohibitory laws. As long as our newspapers and magazines are filled with jokes that make a laughing matter of the violation of these laws; as long as our Christian citizens either wink at or participate in this violation, as long as those who consider themselves Christian citizens fail to insist upon the enforcement of all of these laws, and who not only talk enforcement, but who aid to the utmost in enforcing these laws as we would laws against

"We cannot expect to see very much improvement in our social and political life. As a people we need to stop and take stock seriously as to whether our civilization has advanced so far that personal responsibility both for our acts, and the maintenance of law and order in our community have ceased to be ours, and to begin to feel that once more in all of these matters that we do have a personal responsibility that we must seek to discharge, and that men and women of this work we also want to show loyalty to the institutions of our state and land, and in order to make them worthy of still greater loyalty to do everything in our power to have them realize the highest ideals and responsibilities in our growth and development."

The governor closed his address with an appeal for high ideals in personal, social, business and political life, as a meeting the highest qualifications of Christian citizenship.

Camp Fire May Have Been Cause of Bridge Destruction

(By the Associated Press)
Minot, N. D., Aug. 29.—Great Northern trains by the way of New Rockford are being re-routed over the same system by the way of Devils Lake, following the partial burning yesterday afternoon of the large railroad bridge at Heimdahl, the fourth station this side of New Rockford.

Great Northern officials in Minot today advanced the theory that the fire may have been started from a camp fire being used by transients to cook food.

The bridge is a wooden structure and according to word received here today, nearly half of it was destroyed. The fire was discovered by Erick Larson, a farmer about 10:30 a. m., who immediately reported the matter to the section crew. All trains were stopped safely and no casualties resulted from the blaze.

The bridge was 500 feet long and about 75 feet high. It spans the Sheyenne River.

Kept a Secret

Who said a woman couldn't keep a secret? Mrs. Ahng Glad, Oakland, Cal., served two years as a drummer boy in the Civil War, but she didn't tell anyone about it until her 68th birthday anniversary recently. Her father and General Grant were the only two who had shared the secret until then.

Northern Pacific carshops, near the armory last week and gave them a severe beating. The assault occurred as the youths were going to their home in the north part of the city. John P. the elder of the brothers was badly battered up in the mule that followed. Walter escaped the ruffians and leaving his brother, ran home to summon help. After beating up on John, the thugs sneaked away leaving him lying dazed on the ground. Taken to his home, he soon recovered and is now able to be around. Save for a few scars he is apparently none the worse for his experience. City and county authorities are making a thorough investigation of the case and it is likely that arrests will be made during the next few days.

Later the same evening, a gang believed to be the same men, assaulted the Conrad Sackmiller home in South Dickinson throwing a short iron bar and rocks through the windows. The mistake, struck two of the smaller Sackmiller children who were in bed and asleep at the time, inflicting severe cuts and bruises about the head and arms. Sackmiller is also employed by the Northern Pacific. Authorities are also investigating this case and while no announcement has been made to that effect it is believed that developments in the matter will soon be made public.

A Dairy Booster

The greatest dairy booster there is, is the co-operative creamery. It boosts the business by offering a market for the product, a market that is dependable and profitable. Co-operative creameries are not hard to organize, and, where they have any kind of business-like management and cows enough in the neighborhood to support them, they never fail.

The dairy regions of Minnesota are dotted with co-operative creameries. In Todd County, Minnesota, one of the good dairy counties of that State, there are 18 co-operative creameries, either wholly within the county or on the border line, supported in large part by Todd County farmers.

In 1921 these creameries paid out upwards of two million dollars for cream. And Todd County is not a big county. It has only 28 townships and up to twenty years ago was wholly a grain county without a pure bred dairy cow within its borders.

The creamery pulls for the dairy business. Its doors stand open day after day waiting for cream. It can take all that is offered. The farmer never has to worry about the market. It is there. The prices the creamery pays for butterfat are constant reminders of the profit there is in the dairy business, and the constant suggestion to the farmer the wisdom of getting some cows and their improving the herd for better and better production.

In going into the dairy business let us consider this matter of the co-operative creamery. The farmers ought to have every dollar there is in the business and the co-operative creamery offers them the means of getting it.

In addition to the fact that the co-operative creamery can be economically and efficiently managed, thus bringing savings which means extra profits, the business of manufacturing butter is itself profitable.

A pound of butter contains only about 75 to 80 per cent of butterfat. The balance is water and salt. A creamery will take in 10,000 pounds of cream but it will manufacture and sell 11,000 or 12,000 pounds of butter. The difference is mostly water and water can be pumped out of a well. Nevertheless it sells in the butter these days at from 37c to 45c per pound. This difference between butterfat taken in at the creamery and butter sold is called "over-run" and it constitutes the big source of profit in butter manufacture. The patrons of the co-operative creamery get this in the shape of higher prices for their butterfat. If the farmers co-operate and manufacture the butter, they get this profit. If they do not, others get it.

In Todd County, where all the butter is manufactured in co-operative creameries, the price paid farmers for butterfat is more per pound than in the United States. In New York City after all freight and commission charges are paid. This is the rule in all co-operative creamery communities. The over-run makes this possible. During the month of February, the last date for which the returns are as yet available, co-operative creameries in Todd County paid to their patrons an average of 12c net per pound for their butterfat. Compare this price paid to farmers with the price paid to farmers for butterfat under any other system or method.

The co-operative creamery makes the dairy business more profitable. It stimulates it and encourages it. In taking up the dairy business, let us study this matter of the co-operative creamery.

Judging of Holstein and other dairy cattle was a feature of the fair program today. It also was announced that the William J. Weiss special prize of $50, given by Mr. Weiss for the best Duroc-Jersey sow and litter or five or more pigs exhibited by any boy or girl under 18 years of age, will be awarded on Thursday. Entrants should see the director in charge of livestock prior to that time.

The livestock exhibitors will have a photograph taken on the grounds Wednesday. The fair management wishes to secure photos of champions and other first prize animals.

Between $4,000 and $5,000 is given away in prize money, including freight which the management pays, according to Dr. Bjornson. Judging of some beef cattle was scheduled for yesterday afternoon. Finch Brothers of Moorhead had a fine exhibit of Herefords, but was the only exhibitor. John Dawson of Mandan had a fine exhibit of Angus cattle but also was the only exhibitor in this class, all prizes going to these two exhibitors.

POULTRY EXHIBIT

The poultry exhibit is in charge of Harry Clough of Bismarck. There are 370 birds exhibited.

Among the unusual birds to be seen is a wild turkey from Virginia, the property of Marvin Mangus of near Sterling. He had the animal shipped here from Virginia last winter.

Cumberland, Md.—"My mother gave me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was between thirteen and fourteen years old and going to school. Because I suffered with pains and could not rest, I did not have any more trouble after that until I was married, then I always was troubled in my back while carrying a child and could not do my work until I took the Vegetable Compound. I am strong, do all my washing, and ironing and work for seven children and feel fine. I always have an easy time at childbirth and what it did for me it will do for other women. These doves get their name from their curious method of alighting. They will stop their flight and tumble over and over to the ground. Erickson Brothers of Wilton have an exhibit of Canadian (honkers) geese. J. J. Reko has a pair of English call ducks used in hunting on exhibit and Mrs. Christ. Wiessner of Mandan also exhibits geese.

There is a poultry exhibit of much interest to visitors. It is an exhibit of chicks and young turkeys raised by members of the Boys' and Girls' club of Hettinger county. The exhibit is in charge of Miss Charlotte E. Biester.

The birds shown in the poultry exhibit are valued all the way from $3 to $25 each, some very fine birds being shown.

GRAND JURY TO MEET OCT. 2

Probe of Bank Affair on Program for Federal Jury

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 29.—A federal grand jury term will be held in Fargo, October 2, Col. M. A. Hildreth, U. S. district attorney announced Monday after a conference with Judge Andrew Miller. It is the regular time for holding a grand jury session here.

The regular Minot term will open October 10 and probably continue the rest of the month.

Judge Miller was in Fargo yesterday after a vacation at Alexandria, Minn., and official work in St. Louis and Kansas City, where he sat as U. S. federal judge in a number of railroad injunction cases growing out of the strike.

Twenty-three cases are already docketed for presentation to the grand jury. Colonel Hildreth announced these include two national bank cases, postoffice embezzlements, prohibition and charges of sending obscene matter through the mail.

Among the important cases which will be heard at Minot are those of the Mohall National bank, involving four officers of the bank. Two classes of indictments, charging using mails to defraud and conspiring to use mails to defraud were returned. The indictments, according to the U. S. district attorney covering a "multitude of charges."

FORMER BEACH
MAN MAKES RICH
FIND IN OIL

Beach, N. D., Aug. 29.—Quite a number of people of Beach and vicinity have been investors at various times and places in oil prospects, but it remained for John Michels to get into the oil business in the John D. class.

Several years ago Mr. Michels turned his large farming operations in the Golden Valley over to his sons, and having gathered sufficient coin of the realm to provide for his needs, he and his wife went to California to spend their declining days among the flowers and fruits of a more tropical climate. He purchased a small piece of ground on which to devote his surplus energies. Some time ago a very profitable oil well was produced on adjoining property and Mr. Michels could not see no reason why his land should not contain the same valuable find, so started to drill a well, and a telegram to O. C. Attlewood of this city announces that the well came in last Sunday with a 2300 barrel daily capacity. It is more than likely that Mr. Michels is the sole owner of the well, as he could afford to make the test of his own volition.

CLASS OF '36
WILL GRADUATE AT DICKINSON

Dickinson, N. D., Aug. 29.—Commencement exercises of the August session of the 1922 graduating class of the Dickinson State Normal school will be held at the Elks' auditorium Thursday evening, August 31, beginning at 8 o'clock. President S. T. May of the Normal will give the commencement address.

The class, which numbers 56 and brings the total graduates for the year to 5, is the largest ever graduated from the Slope institution. A class of 19 was graduated in June.

Novel plans are being made for the Class Day exercises on Wednesday evening. There will take the form of a "Senior parade" and "serpentine" dance through the streets of the city and will end up with a genuine old-fashioned college song on Villard street. Members of the class will be attired in their caps and gowns and their stage will be a large truck upon which a piano will be placed. The public is cordially invited to gather for the open air exercises.

Special music will be provided for the Commencement exercises at the auditorium on Thursday evening and it is expected that one of the members of the state board of administration will be here to present the diplomas.

Minneapolis.—Nine persons including four small children trapped by flames following mysterious explosion in down town building. All were rescued.

Washington.—Attorney General Daugherty rules that manufacturers and importers of sacramental wines may sell only to authorized church officials.

'BUDDIES' TO GATHER SEPT. 1
IN ST. PAUL

Annual Reunion of 88th Division Will Take Place at Fort Snelling

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 29.—"Buddies" from over the entire United States are expected at the annual reunion of the veterans of the 88th Division, which served in the World War. The reunion will take place at Fort Snelling commencing Sept. 1, and continuing through Sunday, Sept. 3, when the three-days' festivities will be brought to a close with a military salute to the "Boys of the 88th."

It is expected approximately 5,000 former members of this well known "fighting organization" will respond to the roll call on the opening day. Army notables as well as state and national officials will join with the boys in making this, the second reunion, one of the most memorable occasions in the history of the division.

A feature of the reunion will be the assignment of visitors to the reservation barracks, where all the conveniences of the army station will be at their disposal. This will be free to them, and meals will be served at the nominal cost for the entire three day period. To stipulate the attendance the "Buddies" will travel on a reduced fare from all points throughout the country.

The three-day program is filled with entertainment, including band concerts, sight-seeing trips, visit to the state fair polo, baseball, aerostunts, and all other sport events.

Friday, the first day of the reunion, will be given over to registration and assignment to barracks, an address of welcome by Lieut. Governor "Corporal" Louis L. Collins, and addresses by Private 3d, Humberly, Colonel Bjornstad, United States army, and by all the generals present. That evening the division will hold an assembly weather permitting outside; otherwise in the riding hall.

Saturday morning the visitors will go to the Minnesota state fair, where they will assemble at the hippodrome and parade before the grandstand. They will then witness the automobile races and other attractions from the grandstand. That evening the regimental banquets will be held and a general entertainment will be given for the former service men, which will include a boxing card.

Memorial services and an address by Alpha H. Kenna, division chaplain, will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. At noon, immediately following the Memorial services, the division will hold a general convention, at which the election of officers will take place.

Following the conclusion of convention routine business the service men will be addressed by at least five governors of the various Northwest states, including Governor J. A. O. Preus, of Minnesota. Immediately after the speeches, the 88th division visitors will review and inspect the "historic" Third Infantry.

A general sports program will be held next which will include a baseball game, polo and aerial stunts. The visitors will then be saluted in military style, when every gun now at the fort will be discharged in their honor.

Man Returns Home Following
Funeral Over Body Which Relatives Identified as His

Ashton, Ia., Aug. 29.—John Karpen, Jr., 30, and his wife had a disagreement some weeks ago and he left home, August 15 a body found in the Mississippi river was identified as that of Karpen. His brothers from here went to Minneapolis, completed the identification and saw to the burial of the body in Minneapolis cemetery.

Yesterday Karpen walked into the home of his father here, in perfect health and ignorant of the fact that his relatives believed him dead. He claims to have been at Albert Lea, Minn., continuously since leaving here.

SAYS TOURIST WAS ARRESTED

Mrs. M. M. Ruder Makes Answer to Police Magistrate's Statement

Mrs. M. M. Ruder, at whose home Mrs. Louis Helstein was visiting when the latter was arrested on a charge of speeding, takes exception to the statement of Police Magistrate Cashman that no tourists had been arrested in the anti-speeding campaign. She says in a letter to the Tribune:

Police Magistrate W. C. Cashman must have been mistaken in his statement of the other day, as he not only knew party was a tourist and visitor, but fined her after she had been here only four hours.

"In justice to my sister, Mrs. Louis Helstein of Hibbing, Minn., who was touring the state, I cannot let Mr. W. C. Cashman's statement in the Bismarck Tribune of August 23, (headed tourists not arrested) pass unnoticed. My sister, traveling with her children en route from Hibbing, Minn., arrived at Bismarck August 23rd and was arrested on the pen road for speeding at 11 o'clock that same evening.

"Mrs. Helstein explained the situation the following evening to Mr. Cashman, explaining that she was a tourist and unaware of breaking a speed ordinance. Chief of Police Martinson recognized Mrs. Helstein as a stranger from Minnesota and asked the judge for leniency—result was she was initiated as a visitor by being fined $5.00 and costs of $5.05, and given receipt upon request.

"Undoubtedly if there were any other tourists at the time fined they are now on their way and of course know nothing of the article about 'Tourists Not Arrested.'

"It is true that the speed law must be enforced but when a stranger comes to our city should we not give them the benefit of the doubt and treat them right?"

MINOT TO JOIN IN CONFERENCE

Will Send Delegation to Bismarck Boosting Lignite Use

The Lignite Coal Congress to be held in Bismarck Wednesday at the call of Gov. R. A. Nestos will, if president plans are carried out, result in a definite development program looking toward extensive exploitation of the lignite fields of North Dakota being launched, according to Jas. S. Milloy, secretary of the Minot Association of Commerce and chairman of the publicity committee of the newly organized North Dakota Lignite Coal Operators association. The purpose of the Congress, he points out, is to mobilize the proper energy of coal operators, dealers and the general public for development work which will result in the extended market for lignite, created this winter by the shortage of eastern coal, being a permanent one.

"The proposed campaign will not be for the purpose of selling lignite so much as to make certain that the people using lignite for the first time this winter know how to use it properly and thereby become regular customers of lignite coal dealers when eastern coal is available. The western part of the state has for years, particularly since the war, learned the value of lignite. The present situation in the coal industry as a result of the coal and railroad strikes affords an opportunity to educate the eastern part of the state along the same lines. It is held possible at this time to get the operators started on an advertising campaign and through the co-operation of civic organizations, state officials, the state university and agricultural college to put over a campaign of education which will open up a permanent market for lignite in the eastern half of the state, as well as parts of Minnesota and South Dakota, and thereby get the coal industry of North Dakota on its feet.

Mr. Milloy will submit the report of the publicity committee to the operators meeting to be held Wednesday morning. The election of permanent officers will also occupy the attention of the operators at this session. The Congress will be held at 2 p. m. in the capitol building and speakers who have been invited to address the gathering include Governor Nestos of North Dakota, Preus of South Dakota, C. P. White, northwest coal adviser; Dean E. J. Babcock of the North Dakota University, and Major Stanley Washburn, representing the lignite operators.

Minot will be represented at the Congress by several delegates. They will leave for Bismarck Tuesday afternoon, accompanied by coal operators from points in northwestern North Dakota.

GIRLS! LEMONS
BLEACH THE SKIN

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a speckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.

GETTING READY FOR START OF SCHOOLS SEPT. 5

H. O. Saxvik, new superintendent of city schools, is already on duty planning for the work which will develop when school opens Sept. 5. Saxvik stated that he would make no innovations in the high school but would allow the old system to run much as it had until occasion arose for something new.

Mr. Saxvik came to Bismarck from Hankinson, where he has been superintendent of schools for the past two years. Prior to that time he was county superintendent of the Bowman county schools for ten years. He had been teaching in Bowman county for two years immediately after his graduation from Luther college, Decorah, Ia., when his name was put on the list for county superintendent. At that time Bowman county was new and had no school system.

The school system which Mr. Saxvik installed was soon placed in the first rank.

Since his arrival in Bismarck about two weeks ago, Mrs. Saxvik has been much occupied with familiarizing herself with his new duties and the city.

Mr. Saxvik said that all the principals of the grade schools and the high school would be back this year, but in the range and file many changes would be made. There will be 11 new teachers in the high school; six will be last year teachers. Miss Madge Runey, Roy H. Neff, Winifred Robertson, Mrs. Mell Pollard, and Miss Elizabeth Jones and Principal DeBot are the only ones to return.

In the grades there will be 15 new teachers; 20 will be last year teachers.

Miss May Walker of Valley City will have charge of the girls physical education. Miss Walker is a graduate in the department of physical culture at the University of North Dakota last year. Edgar Houser of Napoleon, graduate of the local high school in the class of 1917 and star athlete at the state university during his college career, will have charge of the boys' work.

Going It Too Hard

Overwork, worry, overeating and lack of exercise and sleep are responsible for much kidney trouble. If your back aches and the kidneys seem weak, rest up and use Doan's Kidney Pills.

Chas. L. Pearce, farmer, 320 2nd St., Bismarck, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills on different occasions when suffering from disordered kidneys and they have always done me good. I have followed the stone mason's trade and it is mighty hard on the kidneys. For a time I was so lame I could hardly stoop down to get a bucket of water. I knew my kidneys required attention so got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Cowan's Drug Store and used them until my trouble disappeared entirely. Whenever I have needed Doan's since, they have always brought the same good results. I have frequently recommended Doan's Kidney Pills."

Tom Sims Says

Time seems to wear rubber heels, it slips by so easily.

Conscience is a still small voice because it doesn't talk enough.

This world would be much better if a man could whistle with a pipe in his mouth.

Some towns have all the luck. Coy shot a robber in Cleveland.

The coal shortage will bring the shummy back this winter.

Where are the daylight savers? Couldn't they set clocks back and make the trains on time?

The winning hand in the game of love holds only one queen.

People are like watermelons. You can't tell a good one or a bad one from the outside.

The flapper just thinks it is better to be rouged than lonely.

Health hint: Whistle.

When dad plants onions in the front yard you know who's boss.

Hundred-dollar bills are being counterfeited, according to bootleggers in Cleveland.

Living costs more, but there is so much more of it.

We saw a man on the sidewalk who was up a tree.

Harding and Edison chew tobacco. Show wife this if she objects.

California's perfect woman says she wasn't born that way. Just like the children. Never give their parents any credit.

At one of Henry's plants there hasn't been a fatal accident for a year. Not even a man who ate himself to death.

Boston woman threw her soup at the waiter. Etiquette book would have prevented this blunder.

You hear about ultimate consumers. They ultimately get hit.

It is better to try to do too much than to try to do too little.

Your luck may be bad, but what of a coal dealer with a conscience?

Most great men were born in small homes. And some small men were born in great homes.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

After walking until he could scarcely stand up, Mr. Tingaling, the fairman, stopped beside Farmer Smith's saas-patch garden.

He was looking for the Twins whom Flap-Doodle, a mischievous fairy, had turned into two white rabbits.

"Where's the hot?" he exclaimed. "I've just looked everywhere. I'll soon begin to think those Twins aren't on this earth. Old Sprinkle-Blow will have to ride his magic umbrella and look up among the stars next, I guess."

Suddenly he stopped talking and fanning, for out from under the fence stalked two little white rabbits, making straight for the lettuce bed.

"I'll bet those are the two rabbits all the creatures have been telling me about," he whispered to himself.

"If I can just get near enough without scaring them, perhaps they can tell me whether or not they have seen the Twins."

So Tingaling squeezed his fat body between the fence palings and went tip-toeing over to the lettuce-bed as softly as you walk in your stocking feet when the baby is asleep.

But what was his surprise when, instead of running away at the sight of so queer a creature as himself, the rabbits gave two joyful hops right toward him, almost knocking him over.

"Oh, oh, oh! It's our beloved Mr. Tingaling!" said one rabbit.

"My, but we're glad to see you!" said the other rabbit.

"Mr. Tingaling was completely flabbergasted.

"I-you-exuse me, but I don't believe I have ever met you before, have I?" he remarked in a puzzled voice.

"Of course you have," cried both white rabbits together. "We're Nancy and Nick. Flap-Doodle bewitched us and then flew away."

"Stars and moons!" exclaimed the fat fairman.

TODAY'S WORD

Today's word is PHILANDER. It's pronounced fil-and-er, with accent on the second syllable.

It means to make love, especially to a play the male part.

It comes from a combination of Greek words meaning "loving" and "man."

It's used like this: "With the coming of autumn, the season for front porch philandering among the youth of the land draws toward its close."

A THOUGHT

Be kind to one another.—Ephesians 4:32.

Kindness is the golden chain by which society is bound together.—Goudie.

SAN FRANCISCO

BY W. H. PORTERFIELD

Well, I take it all back, almost anyhow. San Francisco is still wettest of the big cities—wet and unashamed.

Two wealthy Italians recently gave a banquet and next morning a news picture of the banquet—closed the guests sitting amidst a mighty barrage of California wines of various well-known brands, while here and there were seated some of the city's leading politicians and officeholders.

Not only did the hosts make no concealment of the wealth at the banquet. They actually gloried in it.

True, the big French restaurants are closed, and the saloons pretty generally—but over on Broadway, one block north of the once notorious and now deserted "Barbary Coast," lies "Little Italy," where, in some places you can and do openly order any kind of native wines you desire and drink the same openly at prices ranging from $1.50 upward per bottle.

I am not speaking of secret drinking or bootlegging—so-called, but open and above board sales of liquor to any customer who asks for it and has the price.

Court Clogged

The one federal court empowered to try liquor cases is hopelessly clogged with a calendar which could not be cleared in months with a halt down judges working overtime!

Just the same, I hold to this much of my original statement viz. that there isn't anywhere near the amount of drinking in San Francisco that there used to be, and that it will continue to decrease each year.

For example, I have eaten lunch the past three days in one of the biggest of the city's stag grill rooms. In the old days every table would have had its stein of beer or bottle of wine. Today, buttermilk is steadily forcing its way to the tables still holding to near-beer of various brands. Of liquor, light wine, or beer, there is not a trace and you can't tell me that business men who have formed the buttermilk or near-beer habit for lunch will ever go back to booze, or would do so even if they had the opportunity.

I referred to the "Barbary Coast" of picturesque, if loathsome, memory. The main street of the coast was the waterfront end of Pacific avenue. Here, in the old days, were the notorious dance dives, where painted sirens and their thug companions rolled and robbed the booze-soaked sailors from every port.

The "Coast" Is Dead

Here on Bartlett alley and other dirty, narrow thoroughfares, the painted faces and half-covered bodies of a thousand abandoned women leered.

I have seen a thousand half-drunken men and women dancing on the floors of some of the "dives" here—and not so many years ago.

Today the Barbary Coast is one with auto and dinosaur. The buildings have been turned into public garages! The women have been driven out by the police and about the driest place in the world right now is the coast.

Where are the women? Some are waiting on tables in cheap restaurants, others are plying their profession in up-town apartments and rooming houses, while others are dead. Some doubtless have reformed, because all women of this class do not stay in the business by any means.

There is no soliciting on the streets apparently, or very little of it anyhow, and far, far less evidence of open immorality than in the "good old days."

American Demand for British Coal Taxes Mine Capacity

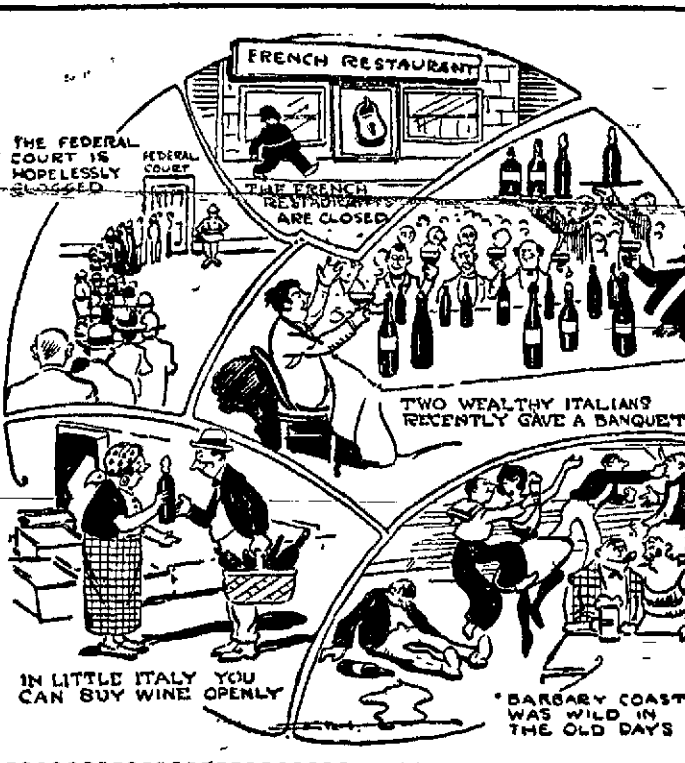

London, Aug. 28.—A question of immediate practical interest, raised in England by the American demand for British coal, is that of the capacity of the British mining industry to meet the demands with the least injury to the requirements of other customers.

The pressure continues to increase, and it is estimated that the American requirements will soon approximate 100,000 tons a day. The tonnage already taken up, however, does not justify that estimate, for the fixtures reported since the boom began represents a deadweight capacity of between 600,000 and 700,000 tons only. A circumstance to be reckoned with is the advent of Canadian business. There are many indications of shortage in the supply of bituminous and anthracite coal from the United States on which Canada, under normal conditions, depends exclusively, and in the event of a continuance of the coal and railway difficulties in the United States, a strong demand for large supplies of English coal from Canada will doubtless soon have to be reckoned with. Coincident with the growing demand from Germany and the Scandinavian countries for Northumberland, Durham, Yorkshire and Scottish coal.

Those are markets in which South Wales competes only to an insignificant extent, but the more the northern coalfields export to the Continent of Europe, the less they will have for shipment to America and the more acute will become the demands from the United States for Welsh coal. This gives rise to a question as to what the Welsh coalfields can sell to America under existing conditions.

The margin for the coal-exporting districts is about 650,000 tons a week. No arbitrary limit can be placed to the quantity which it is possible for the collieries to produce in a seven-hour day, but the circumstances under which trade has been carried on during the past 12 months go to show that it is not possible to improve to any appreciable extent on that quantity.

"Dry," Said Porterfield Yesterday, but "Wet!" Says He Today; "Coast" Is Gone

The RED HOUSE MYSTERY

By A. A. MILNE

© 1922, S. P. Dutton Company

"I could not stop Mark drinking," Cayley's letter went on, "but I kept him within certain bounds. Yes, I kept him outwardly decent, and perhaps now I was becoming like the cannibal who keeps his victim in good condition for his own ends. I used to gloat over Mark, thinking how utterly he was mine to ruin as I pleased, financially, morally, whatever way would give me most satisfaction. I had but to take my hand away from him and he sank. But again I was in no hurry."

"Then he killed himself. That futile little drunkard, eaten up with his own selfishness and vanity, offered his heartiness to the trust and purest woman in this earth. You have seen her, Mr. Gillingham, but you never knew Mark Ablett. Even if he had not been a drunkard, there was no chance for her of happiness with him."

"I had known him for many years, but never once had I seen him moved by any generous emotion. To have lived with that shriveled little would have been hell for her; and a thousand times worse hell when he began to drink."

"So he had to be killed. I was the one left to protect her. For her mother was in league with Mark to bring about her ruin. I would have shot him openly for her sake, and with what gladness, but I had no mind to sacrifice myself needlessly. It was in my power; I could persuade him to almost anything by flattery; surely it would not be difficult to give his death the appearance of an accident."

"I need not take up your time by telling you of the many things I made and rejected. For some days I inclined toward an unfortunate boating accident in the pond—Mark, a very indifferent swimmer, myself almost exhausted in a gallant attempt to hold him up."

And then he himself gave me the idea, he and Miss Norris between them, and so put himself in my hands, without risk of discovery, I should have said, had you not discovered me."

"We were talking about ghosts. Mark had been even more vain, pompous and abusive than usual, and I could see that Miss Norris was irritated by it. After dinner she suggested dressing up as a ghost and frightening him. I thought it my duty to warn her that Mark took any joke against himself badly, but she was determined to do it. I gave way reluctantly. Reluctantly, also, I told her the secret of the passage.

"There is an underground passage from the library to the bowling-green. You should exercise your ingenuity, Mr. Gillingham, in trying to discover it. Mark came upon it by accident a year ago. It was a godsend to him; he could drink there in greater secrecy. But he had to tell me about it. He wanted an audience, even for his vices."

"I told Miss Norris, then, because it was necessary for my plan that Mark should be thoroughly frightened. Without the passage she could never have got close enough to the bowling-green to alarm him properly, but as I arranged it with her she made the most effective appearance, and Mark was in just the state of rage and vindictiveness which I required. Miss Norris, you understand, is a professional actress. I need not say that to her I appeared to be animated by no other feeling than a boyish desire to bring off a good joke—a joke directed at much against the others as against Mark."

"He came to me that night, as I expected, still quivering with indignation. Miss Norris must never be asked to the house again; I was to make a special note of it; never again. It was outrageous. Had he not a reputation as a host to keep up, he would pack her off next morning."

"I comforted him, I smothered down the ruffled feathers. She had behaved very badly, but he was quite right; he must try not to show how much he disapproved of her. And of course she would never come again—that was obvious. And then suddenly I began to laugh. He looked up at me indignantly.

"Is there a joke?" he said coldly. "I was just thinking," I said, "that it would be rather amusing if you—well, had your revenge."

"My revenge? How do you mean?"

"Well, paid her back in her own coin. Do you mean try and frighten her?"

"No, no; but dressed up and

"He jumped up excitedly."

"By jove, Cay!" he cried. "If I could! How? You must think of a way."

"I don't know. If Beverley has told you about Mark's acting, he was an amateur of all the arts, and vain of his little talents, but as an actor he seemed to himself most wonderful. Certainly he had some talent for the stage."

"He had the stage to himself and was playing to an admiring audience. As a professional actor in a small part he would have been hopeless; as an amateur playing the leading part, he deserved all that the local papers had ever said about him."

"And so the idea of giving us a private performance, directed against a professional actor who had made fun of him, appealed equally to his vanity and his desire for retaliation. If he, Mark Ablett, by his wonderful acting could make Ruth Norris look a fool in front of the others, could make her in, and then join in the laugh at her afterward, he would indeed have had a worthy revenge!"

"How Cay, how?" he said eagerly.

"Well, I haven't really thought it out, I protested. It was just an idea."

"He began to think it out for himself."

"I might pretend to be a manager, come down to see her—but I suppose she knows them all. What about an interview?"

"It's going to be difficult," I said thoughtfully. "You've got rather a characteristic face, you know. And your beard—"

"I'd shave it off," he snapped.

"My dear Mark!"

"He looked away, and mumbled, 'I've been thinking of taking it off, anyhow. And besides, if I'm going to do the thing, I'm going to do it properly.'"

"Yes, you always were an artist," I said, looking at him admiringly.

"He purred. To be called an artist was what he had longed for most. Now I knew that I had him."

"All the same," I went on, "even without your beard and mustache you might be recognizable. Unless, of course—I broke off."

"Unless what?"

"You pretend to be Robert. I began to laugh to myself again. 'By Jove!' I said, 'that's not a bad idea. Pretend to be Robert, the wastrel brother, and make yourself objectionable to Miss Norris. Borrow money from her, and that sort of thing.'"

"Robert," he said. "Yes. How shall we work it?"

"There was really a Robert, Mr. Gillingham, as I have no doubt you and the Inspector both discovered. And he was a wastrel and he went to Australia. But he never came to the Red House on Tuesday afternoon. He couldn't have, because he died (unlamented) three years ago. But there was nobody who knew this, save Mark and myself, for Mark was the only one of the family left, his sister having died last year. Though I doubt, anyhow, if she knew whether Robert was alive or dead. He was not talked about."

"For the next two days Mark and I worked out our plans. You understand by now that our aims were not identical. Mark's endeavor was that his deception should last for, say, a couple of hours; mine that it should go to the grave with him. He had only to deceive Miss Norris and the other guests I had to deceive the world."

"When he was dressed up as Robert, I was going to kill him. Robert would then be dead, Mark (of course) missing. What could any body think but that Mark had killed Robert? But you see how important it was for Mark to enter fully into his latest (and last) impersonation. Half-measures would be fatal."

"You will say that it was impossible to do the thing thoroughly enough. I answer again that you never knew Mark. He was being what he wished most to be—an artist. No. Othello ever blacked himself all over with such enthusiasm as did Mark. His beard going anyhow—possibly a chance remark of Miss Norbury's helped her. She did not like leards. But it was important for me that the dead man's hands should not be the hands of a man

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Discuss Pageant Day Plans at Rotary Luncheon

Pageant day plans were discussed at the Rotary luncheon today. Guests of honor included the following chairmen of pageant committees:

Dr. Melvin R. Gilmore, state historical exhibit; Mrs. W. A. Paicener, social committee; Miss Hazel Nielson, costume committee; Mrs. E. A. Hughes, cast committee; Mrs. J. C. Taylor, music committee; Miss Ellenrietta Beach, dance committee; Spencer Boise, decoration committee; George Will, historical committee; W. S. Neal, publicity committee; W. S. AT THE MOVIES

CAPITOL.
"Who Am I?" is a new National Picture, will be shown at the Capitol theater tonight.

The story is a tense, thrilling, dramatic plot based on the efforts of a beautiful girl to discover her true identity. The mystery surrounding her nativity is disclosed only to reveal another even more baffling.

The luxurious surroundings of a gambling house where fortunes are made and lost; the turn of a card form the background for a majority of the scenes, and the staging and costuming of this picture are said to set a new mark for extravagant and lavish expenditure on the part of the producers.

Max Brand wrote the story, and the direction was in the hands of Henry Kolker.

THE ELTINGE.
Particularly great interest is being shown towards the appearance of George Arliss in "Disraeli" at the Eltinge Wednesday and Thursday. His recent appearance in "The Ruling Passion" caused an unusual amount of favorable comment. The story of "Disraeli" is based on the life of the Hon. Benjamin Disraeli, M. P. and Prime Minister of England under Queen Victoria. He has been considered one of the greatest Jews of modern times. It is an intensely interesting story and is concerned with the fight over the purchase of the Suez Canal. In addition to Mr. Arliss other members of the cast are Mrs. George Arliss, Frank Losse, Louise Huff and Noel Tearle.

Wildwood closed Monday.
Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday this week account orchestra playing at Fair Grounds, Mandan.

BOB SHAWKEY AIDS YANKS TO VICTORY

Superb Pitching for Eleven Innings Lengthens Lead for New York

Chicago, Aug. 29.—Superb pitching by Bob Shawkey for 11 innings enabled the New York Yankees to defeat the Browns, 2 to 1, and lengthen their lead over the St. Louisian to a game and a half. The victory gave the Yankees the series, 3 games to 1. Urban Shocker, who won the first game of the four for the Browns, opposed Bob and had good control, but the Yankee bunch, delivered at the right moment prevented him from cutting his club back into the lead.

The Athletics and the White Sox divided honors in a double header at Philadelphia. Hasty's wild throw in the fifth helped Chicago to its victory in the first game, 5 to 3. The Philadelphia triumph in the second was by a 7 to 2 score.

Brooklyn lost an eleven inning game to the Pirates, 4 to 3, when Custer Miller heaved wildly to the outfield in an attempt to catch Carey's steal.

Rublee's hit, following, scored the winning run. Max Carey of the Pirates, leading base stealer of the National League was very much the whole show in the eleventh victory over the Dodgers.

He topped three hits in five times at bat, one a double. He scored the winning run through his daring on the bases.

His work in the field was great and his throw to the plate which cut off a Dodger run was one of the best ever made on Forbes field.

Duke Ruth failed to hit the offering of Urban Shocker of the Browns, being up five times. George Sisler, of the Browns, leading batter of the American league, got another hit, giving him a string of safe hitting in 24 consecutive games.

Pitcher Robertson of the White Sox had little trouble winning the first of a double-header from the Athletics, for the White Sox, but "Stubby" Mack, the Seattle recruit was touched for homers by Scheer and Miller, which cost him the second game.

SPORT BRIEFS

Southampton.—The U. S. Golf association on Tuesday restored George Von Elm of Salt Lake City to an amateur status, because of arrangements with a sporting goods house in covering his expenses.

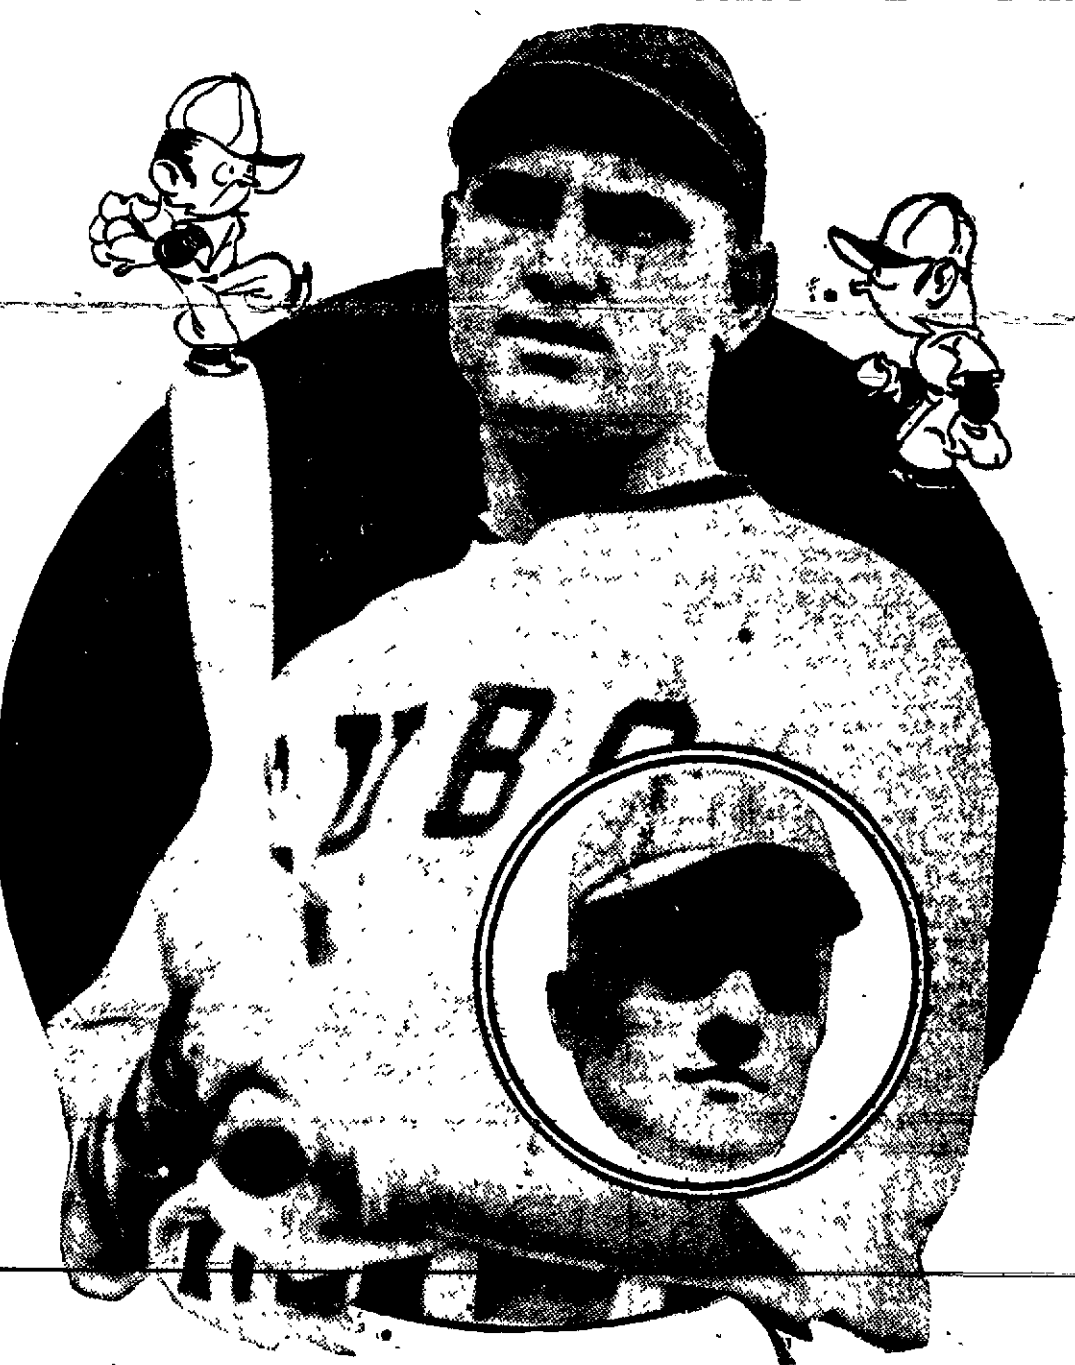

New York, Aug. 29.—Harry Williams, New Orleans negro heavyweight, hopes to convince boxing followers tonight that he has some of the necessary qualifications for a championship match against Jack Dempsey. Williams is to battle "Tut" Jackson of Washington (outweighed) Ohio, also a colored heavyweight in a bout slated for 15 rounds at Cleveland, Brooklyn.

New York.—Johnny Dundee beat Vincent "Topper" Martin in 15 rounds.

Des Moines.—Slavton Page won the term on a campaign of Iowa by defeating Louis Kambler of Fort Dodge.

Milwaukee.—Clonie Tait, Canadian lightweight, won a newspaper decision over Joe Dawson in ten rounds.

TWO STRONG CANDIDATES TO SUCCEED ALEXANDER

VIRGIL CHEEVES AND (INSET) ANTHONY STUEHLAND

BY BILLY EVANS

Grover Cleveland Alexander's might right arm will not last forever.

Nobody knows this better than Bill Killefer, who caught the Cornhusker's mystifying shoots during their youthful days and who's now said Alexander's manager.

As director of the Chicago Cubs' destinies, Killefer is looking into the future—he is looking for another Alexander.

Of course pitchers of Alexander's quality don't grow on trees.

In quest of the great hurler's successor, or of pitchers who promise to come within a mile or two of him, Killefer is "prepping" certain youngsters.

Two Strongly Candidates

Baseball experts believe he has two worthy candidates in Virgil Cheeves and Anthony Stuehlend.

This is Cheeves' second season with the Cubs. Stuehlend arrived little more than a month ago.

If Cheeves isn't careful he not only will be classed as an Alexander No. 2, but he may also find himself covered by John J. McGraw.

In one recent series between the Cubs and the Giants Virgil performed the feat of beating the New Yorkers in the first and fourth games.

In those 18 innings he allowed the world's champions only two runs and eight hits. He won the first game, 3-2, with four hits, and the second, 3-1, with four more.

Looking For Youth

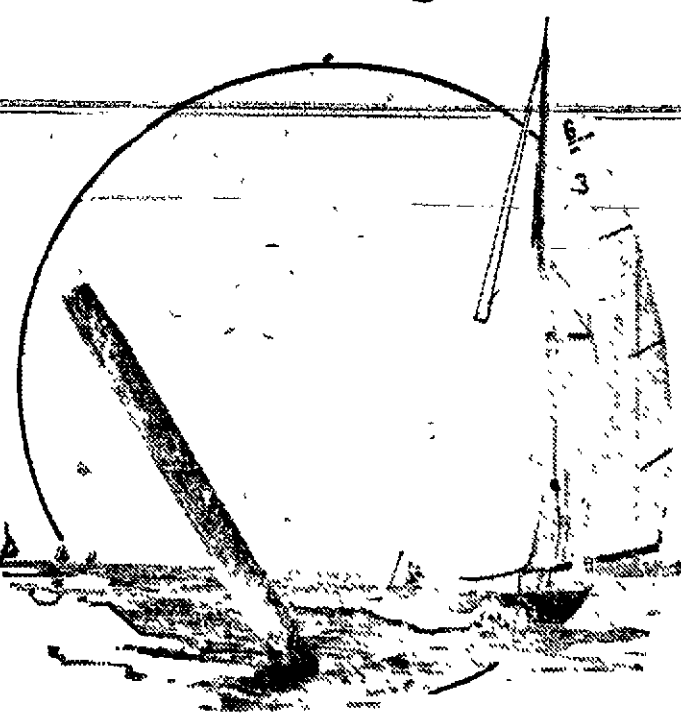

With Phil Douglas already in the discard and Fred Toney and Jesse Barnes growing wrinkles, McGraw, like other major league managers, is looking for youth.

His attention turned immediately toward Mr. Cheeves when that individual beat him twice in four days. Cheeves is capable of these iron-man stunts. He is built along the lines of Ed Walsh, which speaks for itself.

Stuehlend, living mostly in the bullpen and on the bench, broke into the National League season with a pop. He opposed the St. Louis Cardinals in his first game, beat them 5-0 and strung six strikes around Rogers Hornsby's neck the first two times the league's premier son of swat faced him.

Des Moines.—Nicholas, Harry Clark's Memphis pacer, won the 2113 pace, which featured the races at the Iowa state fair.

YOST STARTS 22ND YEAR AS MICH. COACH

(By the Associated Press)

Ann Arbor, Mich., Aug. 29.—Fielding H. Yost, for a quarter of a century recognized as a master strategist in football, next month will begin his twenty-second year as mentor of the University of Michigan gridiron squad.

The same tireless energy that year ago gained for him the title of "Hurricane" is evident in Yost this year as he maps a football campaign expected by those close to him to be one of the most important of his career.

The old dash and fire so pronounced in years gone by when Michigan produced point-a-minute teams has come to the front again, following selection of the 47 players invited to begin the early training September 15.

Yost has been coaching football teams for 25 years having served a year each at Ohio Wesleyan, Nebraska, Kansas and Leland Stanford, before coming to Michigan. It has been his record at Michigan, however, that has given him fame as a builder of gridiron machines.

During the twenty-one years here Yost's charges have won 125 times, tied nine, and lost but twenty-five games. His men have rolled up a total of 4,779 points, against 681 by the opposition.

Of the purely conference games played since Yost has been in charge, Michigan has won fifty-eight, tied four and losing twenty-two. This stands as a record in the Big Ten, his friends claim.

"Hurricane" enters the 1922 season with confidence, although not overconfident. The biggest game of the year, from the Michigan standpoint, will be the one at Columbus October 21, when Ohio States dedicates her new stadium. Yost feels that the winning of this game would be the crowning achievement of his career and his heart, as well as that of every other Michigan follower. The entire Michigan preliminary training campaign will be shaped with this game in view.

Yost has a wealth of good material for the backfield and flank positions this year, the only real weakness, if such is found to exist, being in the line.

Loss of Ernie Vick, All-American center last season, together with Duke Dunne, star guard, and several other linemen who have been proved under fire, leaves Michigan with the necessity for building practically a new line. Just how strong the new men for the line positions will prove to be cannot be guessed at this early date, as many of the candidates never have been tried in a "varsity" campaign.

Captain Paul Goebel and Berle Kirk, the former one of the most versatile men in the conference, probably will carry most of the burden at one of the ends. Ted Bank and Irwin Uteritz are likely to alternate at quarterback. Bank is the quarter, who two years ago, was responsible in large measure for the victory over Chicago on Ferry Field. He was injured early in 1921 and Uteritz stepped into the breach.

Harry Hipke, the halfback, who, created a sensation in the conference, last year, is expected to be one of the mainstays of the team. He and Goebel probably will do most of the kicking.

Looks Like Best Season in Years on Game Trails

BY MORRIS ACKERMAN

The hunting season breaks soon! It looks like the best in years. With the coming of September migratory waterfowl enter the open list and other game follows in succession.

Recent mild winters, game sanctuaries and refuges, restocking, better game laws and more faithful observance of those laws will make 1922 the greatest of hunting years.

Migratory waterfowl, due to the Canadian enabling act, are sure to be more plentiful this fall than in years, possibly in 25 years. This should bring joy to the hearts of the duck-hunters.

Of big game the Virginia deer, the white-tail, is on the ramp. In Canada, moose hunting will be as good as it has been in the last 10 years. Grouse are plentiful and hunting conditions look most favorable.

No More Game? Pooh!

I've been knocking around quite a bit on this hunting stuff and I refuse to join those calamity howlers who tell you that hunting is on the well-known wane and that the only place it can be done in "five," or any other term of years "will be in a natural history museum." There are too many hunters in America who are sportsmen to permit this great country of ours to become gameless.

Last year there were upward of 200,000 deer killed in the United States. In Canada the number probably was greater. Does that look as if the deer crop were going out of business? It does not. Deer are on the increase in many places, to such an extent that the situation is growing more or less alarming.

Plenty of Shooting

Last year there were 10,000 bear killed in the United States and probably double that number in Canada.

In the United States 8,000 elk were killed. Does that indicate that big game hunting is getting on the blink?

Big game conditions are getting better and outside of the elk and antelope problems the situation is all to the tobacco.

Some states that were "cleaned out" of game several years ago, states where deer were a curiosity, now have loads of game and conditions are getting better.

New York and Pennsylvania have come rapidly to the front in this respect. In Michigan and Wisconsin the hunters bagged 40,000 deer last fall. California and Wyoming contributed about 15,000 each and New York state another 10,000. Additional thousands were bagged in Maine, Minnesota, Montana, Vermont, Colorado, South Dakota, Oregon, New Jersey, Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

Deer and Gear

Florida, Mississippi and other southern states contributed quite a number of deer and black bear. Over 500 black bear were killed in Pennsylvania and more than a thousand in Oregon. In Montana 5500 elk were killed. Louisiana and Tennessee gave to the sportsmen quite a number of deer and bear.

In addition to the match tonight at 7:30 o'clock, Mandan time, there will be a boxing match at the fair grounds tomorrow night between Farmer Lodge and Big Bill Steele. Mike Gibbons will referee both bouts.

Sentiment of the crowd which will see the Billy Stern-Buddy McDonald boxing match at the Mandan fair grounds tonight probably will be fairly evenly divided. Stern has been fighting in Bismarck and played a number of friends who will back him, and a delegation is coming down from Golden Valley, where he boxed recently, to cheer him. McDonald probably will be the favorite with the Mandan crowd because of his exhibition here last winter.

Hip Pockets Used by Ball Players to Carry Testaments

Philadelphia, Aug. 29.—Hip pockets of the major league baseball players' uniforms are being put to new usage. Many of them now carry a pocket edition of the new testament. W. H. Strunk, a representative of the Businessmen's Council of the Pocket Testament League, presented each member of the Chicago White Sox with a testament here. Each, in turn, signed a pledge to carry the testament with him always, on and off the field.

REGISTER FOR STARK CO. FAIR

Dickinson, N. D., Aug. 29.—Registration rooms for the entering of exhibits in all departments for the first annual Stark county fair will be opened at the fair grounds next Friday morning in order that exhibitors may have their products in place by the opening day, the general committee has announced. The registration rooms will be kept open during the remainder of the week.

Chairman of the various committees report that interest now being shown on the part of Stark county people would indicate that large and attractive exhibits will be entered in

Gasoline Consumption Jumping

GASOLINE consumption during the month of June, 1922, was 20% greater than during the month of May, 1922, and considerably higher than June, 1921.

On June 1, 1922, there were in storage 856,607,102 gallons of gasoline, or 82 gallons for each of the 10,448,632 automobiles registered Jan. 1, 1922.

This means less gasoline per car in storage than for any similar period since 1918, with the single exception of the year 1920 when there were only 76.4 gallons per car.

The summer demand for gasoline is about double the lowest demand of the winter. If July and August consumption shows an increase proportionate to the June demand (as appears probable) stocks may be expected to decline rapidly.

However, because of its unrivaled facilities, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is equipped to care for the gasoline needs of its patrons throughout the Middle Western States it serves.

The refineries of this Company operate the year through in order that products will be ready when the heavy summer demand comes. At all times the Company attempts to have its field storage tanks full.

To maintain an abundant supply of gasoline at all points in the territory requires the unceasing efforts of 26,000 employees, the manufacturing capacity of 6 large refineries, the field storage at 3821 bulk stations, 1700 service stations, 515,000 iron barrels, and over 6600 tank wagon and delivery trucks.

The motorist who will think in terms of the unceasing streams of cars on the streets about him will quickly appreciate the magnitude of the task confronting the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). This task is far more difficult of performance in the Middle West than elsewhere in the United States because the number of cars per capita is greater and the mileage of these cars is greater.

Great as this undertaking is, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has proved equal to the job. As gasoline consumption increases, this Company provides facilities to meet it. It believes that this expansion of activity is an essential part of the service which it is expected to perform.

LEADERS IN TRIBUNE CONTEST SHOWN BY TODAY'S STANDINGS. DISTRICT NO. 2 AHEAD OF CITY

City List Led by Charles Owens, Followed by Miss Baker, a Close Second.—Leo Gerling in Next Place.—Country Districts Led by Miss Kooker of Dawson, Mrs. Geil of Steele, and Clarence Bryant of Napoleon.—Tess Ward of Baldwin, Tom Truax of Wilton, and Mrs. C. J. Reff of Bismarck, All Are Close Seconds for the Five Automobiles.

The most exciting period of the Tribune's "Everybody Wins" Campaign has past and now we know who it was that has been doing the hardest work, and they have been amply rewarded by their position in today's vote standings.

Many candidates are so closely tied to those nearest them that it was hardly possible to figure out, in the short time we had, just who should be on top. The country districts have outstripped the city in their turn-ins, although the highest turn-in came from the city. It would be well for the contestants, entered from this city, to watch their country cousins very closely, for they mean business.

The votes as today's list shows them are the totals, but are in proportion and the rank of each candidate is correct. The free votes will be continued, but will only count for 25 votes instead of 50 as previously. There are four more weeks of the campaign and ample opportunity for anyone of the active candidates to run their votes up and past the present leaders, so we wouldn't be surprised to see many changes during the coming weeks.

VOTES THIS PERIOD

175,000 Extra Votes will be offered for this period on $30,000 Clubs, as shown in the schedule. This period ends September the 9th, and is the last chance to run your votes up and past the present standings. Second payments will be a big source of revenue, since by getting second payments, or subscriptions from those you have already gotten one from, you can take advantage of the first period vote as explained in today's ad. If you receive an additional year from someone who has already subscribed, you will receive 12,000 votes instead of 2,000 as per your schedule. This is explained this way—You now have two years from the same party which entitles you to 15,000 votes since you got the first payment the 1st. But you have already received 3,000 votes on your first subscription, so we deduct this from the 15,000 and you have left 12,000. You can figure all your additional payments in this same manner. Please mark 2nd. Payment on your stub, so we will give you full credit, when turning in.

Remember that it is as yet anyone's race and that you have more time the rest of the campaign than formerly, and with the help of 2nd. payments, the 175,000 club votes, and the 50 free vote coupons, you have every chance in the world of walking away with one of those cars.

VOTES AGAIN PUBLISHED
The following are the lists of votes corrected up to Monday evening. These lists do not contain the club bonus votes but are accurate as to the candidate's positions in the race.

DISTRICT NO. 1.
Includes the candidates who live in Bismarck. The Studebaker Six, as well as the ten smaller prizes are guaranteed to this district, and they have an equal opportunity to win both the Hudson sedan, and Nash and Overland. Ten per cent given to all who do not win a prize, and abide by the rules.

The list below was compiled from returns received up to Monday, Aug. 28, 6 p. m.

Miss Marjorie Bolton	Bismarck	5,000
Miss Louise Berndt	Bismarck	278,750
Mr. Ludvig Quarnrud	Bismarck	240,350

Tribune's Candidate from Washburn

MR. LEWIS O. MANN.

From the first when Mr. Mann's reports began coming in, the Tribune has felt confident that the northern territory was well represented, and still feels that a car will probably be awarded up there. The reason for all this optimism is shown in the figures of Mr. Mann, who is candidate in the Tribune's contest. He respectfully solicits the help of all his friends.

ORDERED BACK TO FIRE ZONE

(By the Associated Press)
St. Paul, Aug. 29.—National guard airplane and motor equipment was ordered back into the fire zone by Governor Preus this morning, following receipt of information that the fires about Kelsey and Cotton are again running and that the situation is serious.

Alex McKenzie Will Hearing Postponed

(By the Associated Press)

St. Paul, Aug. 29.—Hearing on the will of Alexander McKenzie, former North Dakota political boss, was continued again today for one week, by agreement of counsel interested in the case, when it was called for hearing before Ramsey County Probate Judge Howard Wheeler.

L. S. Hendley, counsel for Judge C. P. Flannery, and Ambrose Tigne, counsel for Miss Jeanette McKenzie and other heirs, were in court and agreed to a postponement of the hearing. Neither would discuss a probable contest of the will, which leaves the bulk of the estate to two daughters of his first marriage and but $50,000 each to three children of his second marriage.

No objections to the will have yet been filed and no steps were taken today to indicate whether such objections would be filed, but it is reported on reliable authority that the heirs are negotiating a settlement of the purported controversy out of court and may be able to agree before the case is called for hearing again.

maliciously set a large number of the fires which have threatened many lives and destroyed thousands of dollars worth of property in northern Minnesota this year. W. T. Cox, state forester, declared today at the session of governors fire committee in the offices of Governor Preus. National guardmen and motorcycles and state airplanes will engage in a campaign to be started immediately for apprehension.

IRREGULARS ARRIVE AND CUT CABLES

(By the Associated Press)
Dublin, Aug. 29.—An official communique issued by the Southwestern Free State command at Limerick stated that a boat load of Irish irregulars arrived in the Valentia harbor this afternoon and proceeded to cut the trans-Atlantic cables. They had cut one when National troops arrived on the scene whereupon the irregulars departed. Erskine Childers was directing the irregulars, said the communique.

TALK LIGNITE TOMORROW

Operators and Public Group to Meet at Capitol

Tomorrow will be lignite day in Bismarck. In the morning the North Dakota Lignite operators will meet to perfect a permanent organization. In the afternoon a coal distribution congress will meet at the call of Governor Nestos and still other lignite matters may be considered at night.

The afternoon meeting is called to consider the conditions that will face the state this winter, to disseminate information and to attempt to get a state organization that will be effective in discouraging profiteering.

LIGHT and HEAT ON THE FARM WITHOUT COST

We have not the space in this announcement to go into detail of how the farmer and those living in towns can light and heat their homes and other buildings with an efficient harmless gas made from waste such as weeds, corn cobs, straw, etc., without cost—in fact, make good money besides.

In fuel, Governor Nestos has asked cities and communities to send representatives to this meeting. It will be the people's meeting at which their side of the coal situation will be presented and efforts made to make certain that every possible means is utilized to meet the needs of the state this year.

Stanley Washburn, as president of the temporary Lignite Operators organization will call the morning meeting to order, while Governor Nestos, or some one whom he will designate will call the afternoon session to order.
